

Beavercreek's Jarvis does the homework needed for a good decision

6:04 PM Tuesday, October 27, 2009

I am voting for Brian Jarvis for Beavercreek City Council.

I have seen Jarvis as he reviews city- related issues, and I know that he really does his homework to develop the information necessary to support his position.

He speaks with voters in a clear and straightforward way to convince them to adopt a particular course of action. Those of us who watch him in council- related activities see that he displays a personal passion and self-motivation to achieve a bright future for Beavercreek.

I feel Jarvis is the top person to vote for in the Beavercreek City Council race.
